Potentates of the Earth Represented in Pages of His Unique Volume.

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] London, November 9 - Louis Barth, the Hungarian and self-styled "autograph king," sailed on the steamship Campania from Liverpool to-day, with a volume containing nearly 1,090 outographs of the most prominent Europeans. He claims to be the only pripeans. He claims to be the only private collector to capture the autograph of Emperor Franz Joseph, of Austria-Hungary, and among the other inscribers are the Kaiser, king Edward Vii. of Great Britain, who said the only fault of the book was that "it is not mine;" Dowager Queen Alexandra, Pope Plus, King George, of Great Britain; Queen Mary, the Aings of Denmark, Greece and Portugal, and Calmen Sylvia, the last being the net name of Queen Elizalast being the net name of Queen Eliza-beth, of Roumania.

Practically all the members of English and European royal houses have signed the book. J. P. Morgan has also M Barth says he has been offered $200,000 for the book. The only time the book left M. Barth's possession was a year ago, when he lent it for a night to Dowager Queen Alexandra. M Barth makes the book pay by appealing to human vanity. He puts a price on the privilege of signing a book in which are the autographs of so many great people, by asking a contribution towards the expense of reproduction of the entire book. He says be obtained $1,250 from Mr. Birch Crisp, of Chinese loan fame, and $1,500 from one of the Rothschilds. He believes that the United States will be a fruitthat the United States will be a fruit-ful field of contributions. He has an introduction to Andrew Carnegie, and wonders whether the former sieel king will pay $25,000 for signing amongst the potentates of the world.

SOMETHING OF HER DUTIES

While President-Elect Plans Cabinet, She Must Get Staff Together.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, November 9.—By the will of more than 15,000,000 sovereign voters just expressed at the polis, Woodrow .. ilson was declared to be the chief executive of this nation of 90,000,000 souls from march 4, 1913, the chief executive of this nation of 90,000,000 souls from march 4, 1913, and, likewise, through the same method Mrs. Wilson was declared the "first lady of the land" and mistress of the White House.

What will happen when, on that important day in American history, March 4, President and Mrs. Taft pack their baggage and quit the big white mansion that has housed many a President? Do the furniture and do the books, pictures and other furnishings of this historic place belong to the retiring President, and may these things be taken off with him, or are they part and parcel of the Executive Mansion, to stand for use of the next incoming executive family? Will the servants—from the flunkies who stand at the oig front door—and the housemaids, and even the chef, who prepares the presidential means and the big state dinners, give way to a new regime, or will they remain as part of the White House fixtures? Will Mrs. Wilson's social Secretary—the woman who must know the leaders in society all over the world and be qualited to use judgment in social matters, from the answering of a simple note to the sending of invitations to members of the families belonging

Will the old "hatbox"—that long, narrow hall leading from the east of Treasury entrance up towards the famous East Room remain as it has been for the last hundred years, with its Martha Washington cups and saucers, and Dolly Madison and Jefferson and Monroe souvenirs, or will it be cers, and Dolly Madison and Jefferson and Monroe souvenirs, or will it be cleaned out from end to end to give place to modern ideas and thought in art?

Bust Mave Reliable Staff.

While President Wilson is busily engaged in selecting the members of his official household for the next four years—the members of his Cabinet—the men who are to help pliot him over the rough and surbulent political breakers, and is otherwise arranging and planning for his White House staff, Mrs. Wilson doubtless will be no less busy preparing her staff for duty inside the living quarters of the executive mansion. She will select her social secretary, her chef and her maide and other servants. It must be remembered that on the wife of a President fall many social and household duties, and that it is just as important for her to have a good, reliable staff of capable, efficient men and women in her part of the White House as it is the heads with care. rease of legal requirements week.
